

THE WITCH'S VESSEL

CHOOSING A SPIRIT COMPANION

A field guide to recognition, discernment, boundaries, and conscious choice.

Before Recognition

Clarity does not diminish mystery. It gives mystery somewhere safe to stand.

A spirit companion offering asks for imagination, intuition, and emotional openness. It should never require confusion about what you are purchasing, what the seller will provide, or what choices remain yours.

01

Name the intention

Write down what you hope the experience will support. Separate that hope from any promised supernatural result.

02

Read the deliverables

Identify the physical item, written profile, customization, ritual service, timing, and follow-up that are actually included.

03

Notice your state

Delay the decision when you feel panicked, pressured, desperate, or unusually euphoric.

04

Keep your agency

You may question, pause, change your mind, or conclude a practice without fear of punishment.

The first test is simple:

Can the offering be described clearly without relying on fear, urgency, or guaranteed outcomes?

PLATE 02

THE MIRROR TEST

Record what is present before deciding what it means.

What You Are Receiving

Mystery is not a substitute for specific deliverables.

THE OBJECT

A vessel, artwork, jewelry piece, document, or other physical component.

THE PROFILE

Written lore, traits, preferences, symbolism, associations, or a personalized narrative.

THE PROCESS

Ritual work, customization, preparation, creation, or a scheduled service.

THE SUPPORT

Questions, revisions, care guidance, and the stated length of follow-up.

Ask before buying

- What exactly arrives?
- When and how is it delivered?
- What is personalized?
- What follow-up is included?
- What are the refund and cancellation terms?

Four Ways to Relate

The strongest style is the one you can sustain without pressure.

I DEVOTIONAL

Reverence, prayer, offerings, consistency, and repeated acts.

II REFLECTIVE

Journaling, meditation, observation, flexibility, and quiet attention.

III SYMBOLIC

Story, art, archetype, creative meaning, and personal interpretation.

IV RITUAL

Defined openings, steps, limits, timing, and deliberate closure.

A tie is not a failure. A changing answer is not inconsistency. Choose the form of practice that fits your actual life now.

PLATE 03

THE LINE REMAINS YOURS

A respectful practice can approach a boundary without crossing it.

Boundaries Before Intensity

Decide your limits while calm, then let those limits remain visible.

01

BEGINNING + ENDING

Choose when a session begins, how long it lasts, and what action closes it.

02

INTERPRETATION

Record observations before assigning supernatural meaning. Ordinary events may remain ordinary.

03

HEALTH + SAFETY

Do not use signs as the sole basis for medical, mental-health, legal, financial, or fire-safety decisions.

04

MONEY

Set a total spending limit in advance. Do not pay again because a seller says danger will grow.

05

THE RIGHT TO STOP

Pause or conclude without accepting threats of retaliation, spiritual punishment, or abandonment.

If a practice interferes with sleep, relationships, responsibilities, safety, or financial stability, step back and return to ordinary support.

Transparency Over Urgency

A compelling story can coexist with clear policies. Fear-based pressure cannot.

Look for

- specific deliverables
- visible timing and policies
- secure checkout
- respectful language
- original work
- questions welcomed

Step away when

- 01 Only this seller can prevent harm.
- 02 You must pay again or the danger grows.
- 03 A supernatural result is guaranteed.
- 04 Medication, professionals, or loved ones should be avoided.
- 05 Ending the practice will cause punishment.

Testimonials may describe satisfaction, but they cannot independently verify supernatural claims.

PLATE 04

THE CHOICE STAYS YOURS

Companionship is not control. Continue, change, pause, or conclude.

A Calm Decision

Wait one full day after an offer creates intense excitement or fear.

Compare the facts after the emotional peak has passed. If the choice still feels clear without countdown language, dramatic promises, or social proof, return to what is concrete.

Clear deliverables	A	B	C
Total cost
Relationship style
Policies visible
Follow-up included
Comfort from 1-5
Fear or pressure?

Continue. Change. Pause. Conclude.

Every one of these remains a valid act of agency.
